

Palo Art Wins Again!!

On May 10, 2010, the Congressional Excellence in Art Awards were held where one student is selected to have their art exhibited in the U.S Capitol building and two others are selected to have their art exhibited in the Congressional offices.

Mr. Nicholson is proud to announce that:

Kaylee Love took first place honors and will be going to Washington D.C. for her work hung in the capitol entitled Painting "Ringo"

Alexandra Staretz took third and will be displayed in the Las Vegas congressional office for one year for her pastel "George"

Meghan Scharar took Honorable Mention

Diana Solis took Honorable Mention.

In the 9 years the event has been held, Palo Verde has won 7 times two years, sweeping all honors.

So, let's hear it our great Palo Verde art students. They are truly a Nationally recognized art program, and they made it happen!
